

Conditions of Use and Legal Information

- This website is subject to the following conditions of use which are agreed as binding for relations between the user and Coperion GmbH when this website is visited. Insofar as special conditions for individual usages of this website deviate from the following conditions of use, this will be expressly stated at the appropriate place in the website. The special conditions of use then apply additionally in the respective single case.

User accounts, passwords and safety

The user must identify himself as a customer and provide proof of authorisation to access MyCoperion by the signature of a superior.

Access to MyCoperion is only allowed to an authorised group of users.

Disclosure of access data to third parties is not allowed. Coperion cannot and will not accept any liability for losses or damage resulting from failure by the user to fulfill the conditions of use.

Other accounts can be applied for under password.mycoperion@coperion.com.

The signatory confirms that Coperion will be notified when the user leaves the company. The user account will then be deleted immediately. This is done in the interest of the customer to prevent misuse of the respective customer data.

The user is solely responsible for ensuring the confidentiality of his account data, including the password and all activities performed with his user account. The user agrees to inform Coperion immediately of any unauthorised use of his user account or password or a violation of security.
- This website contains data and information of all kinds which are protected by trademark and/or copyright in favour of Coperion GmbH or in individual cases in favour of third parties. It is therefore prohibited to download, reproduce or distribute the website in whole or in part. Technically related reproduction for the purposes of browsing insofar as this action does not serve commercial purposes as well as permanent reproduction for one's own use is permitted.

It is permitted to use the information on Coperion products and services (such as data sheets, articles in the Knowledge Base and similar material) provided by Coperion for this purpose for loading from the website under the following conditions: (1) No copyright notes will be removed from all copies of such documents, (2) The user will use such information exclusively for personal, non-commercial information purposes (3) The user will make no changes to such information and (4) The user will give no additional promises or guarantees on such documents.
- It is permitted to set a link to this website providing that it serves solely as a cross-reference. Coperion GmbH reserves the right to revoke the permission. Framing of this website is not allowed.
- Coperion GmbH will accept liability for its website in accordance with legal provisions. No guarantee will be provided for the correctness and completeness of the information on the website. References and links to websites of third parties do not imply that Coperion GmbH lays claim to the contents of the reference or link as its own. The contents imply no responsibility on the part of Coperion GmbH for the data and information contained therein. Coperion GmbH has no influence on the contents behind the link. Coperion GmbH will therefore not be liable for illegal, faulty or incomplete contents and for damages caused by content behind the link.
- The user uses the Internet at his own risk. Coperion GmbH is especially not liable for the technical failure of the Internet or access to the Internet.
- The place of jurisdiction is Stuttgart. German law with the exclusion of the UN Purchasing Law is applicable.
- Coperion GmbH reserves the right to modify these conditions of use from time to time and to adapt them to technical as well as legal developments. The user will be notified separately about the modification. In case individual regulations of these conditions of use are or become ineffective, the other regulations will remain unaffected.